No Slump Here

Local Building Shows Increase

Building in Daly City again last month belied the apparent national slump in construction.

The total value of building here for June was $687,879, almost three times as much than for the same period last year.

Greatest number of permits went for the construction of 66 new homes in this area, at a total value of $587,573. Of these, the majority were in Westlake, although United Construction Company accounted for four homes in the Crocker Tract, and Lagomarsino built an equal number of dwellings in the Garden Valley tract.

Another big item last month, George Hopman, building inspector said, was apartments. Two apartments (12 units) were started in Westlake, at a total value of $39,706.

Alterations, including the front of the Daly City Theatre, accounted for $56,450 of the June total.

"POT WAVE" HITS WESTLAKE AREA

Police reported this week that several residents of Westlake have recently lost their potted plants.

The plants, nicely set in pot-tery containers, have been lifted off front porches and window sills.

This type of theft seems to be a common thing during the summer, police report.

Latest victim was Mrs. Paul Senn, 163 Wilshire. She lost four blue pots and plants Sunday evening. She valued them at $10.

LOCAL SOLDIER RETURNS FROM KOREA

Among 2,439 Army rotation troops arriving at the Seattle Port of Embarkation Friday afternoon, July 6, from Korea will be Cpl. Warren C. Raines of Box 190, Daly City.

Cpl. Raines will be aboard the USNS Marine Lynx.

Of the contingent arriving, 12 are from San Francisco, six from Oakland, and an additional 16 from other San Francisco Bay Area cities.

FIREMEN RESCUE CRAZY CAT

But She Was No Lady

No one knew how long the cat had been trapped, but last Friday afternoon the mouser's weak call was heard by a helper at Associated Poultry, 7334 Mission.

Investigating, the worker discovered a bundle of wet fur and dirt huddled in a four inch crack between the big cooler and a thick partition. Evidently the cat, several days before, had been exploring the top of the freezer. The exploration ended when the kitten slipped over the edge and wedged itself in a spot no mouse should be caught in.

Unable to rescue the cat, the helper called Daly City firemen. Chief Elmer Kennedy arrived a few minutes later, and the mercy job began.

As they couldn't reach the Tabby with their hands, the firemen fixed a stick into a type of shovel. Pushing this under the cat they tried to raise the mouser to the top of the refrigerator.

"After several bad starts and an hour's work we made it," Chief Kennedy reports. "The cat was free."

... but not for long.

Mad with joy over its escape, the feline swept around the top of the refrigerator in a crazy dance. The finale came when the little animal slipped again ... this time down another side of the refrigerator between another wall.

Meet "Mike" Lekowicz, Muni Railway Inspector In Daly City

by Cy Donaldson

For three years the people of Daly City have benefited through the services of Michael Lekowicz, Municipal Railway Inspector, who is stationed at the intersection of Mission street and San Jose avenue to hear complaints and to check bus schedules.

"Mike," as he is affectionately known by towns-people, has been with the Municipal Railway for 28 of his 60 years.

"It has been a pleasure working with the people of Daly City, hearing their grounds for complaint and giving strangers directions," Mike said.

"I like to work with the Daly City Police Department, because they cooperate completely with the bus drivers and myself," he said thoughtfully.

Before his present position, Mike was a motorman on the now defunct No. 40 street car line which provided transit service to San Mateo from Daly City.

Mike reminisced about the "good old days" in the San Francisco Bay Area in the not-too-distant past. He remembered the enjoyable trips on the Sausalito ferry across the bay to Marin county, but that was before modern transportation problems fostered the Golden Gate Bridge and the subsequent extinction of this ferry boat system.

In five more years, Mike will be eligible for retirement, but that's a date which he does not look forward to since he enjoys his personal contacts. Mike lives by the Golden Rule in his daily relationships with people whom he meets and in turn he receives a deep satisfaction from his work.

"I've never had any bad arguments with people," responded the affable Mike, "but I do remember one humorous experience I had with a woman who complained of exhaust fumes bothering her on a bus."

When Mike found out that the bus line of which she was complaining was staffed only with electric trolley-buses he knew she didn't have just grounds for a complaint. ... I guess it's all in the line of duty.

One of the tools of his trade is a small black binder which contains bus schedules, but Mike doesn't need to consult his binder very often.

"I know the schedules by heart," retorted Mike.

Ocean View

According to Mike, one of his greatest pastimes is viewing the vast mysterious Pacific Ocean from a vantage point on Land's End. He thinks the Pacific is one of nature's most magnificent forces.

A more commercialized pleasure is baseball, which Mike follows avidly. "That's one American sport which remains unchanged," said Mike. He is an ardent Seal fan and attends games whenever possible.

Mike, who lives at 378 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, is married and had one child who passed away.

Whenever you have a complaint to make against the bus service or you feel in need of a friend, Mike is stationed at this post 7-9 o'clock in the morning and 2:30-6 o'clock in the afternoon at your service.

SCHOOL SUPT. TO BE NAMED

Board Interviews Many Candidates

Narrowing a field of candidates from "about 60" to six, the Jefferson Elementary school board this week entered the final stretch in the choice of a new school superintendent.

The superintendent will take the place of Jim Snell who retired as of July 1 from the district.

Mrs. Helen Cheatham, board member, said the district has received almost 60 applications from every part of the country, "including Texas."

Mrs. Cheatham did not wish to say when a superintendent would be named, although she noted it would be within the "next two months."

Mike Callan, second member of the board, said he expected a choice within weeks. He noted several favorable candidates had been interviewed, and stressed the necessity of hiring a new superintendent without undue delay.

No names of candidates have been released, although it was learned none of them are from the Jefferson Elementary School district.

Two Merchants Get Bad Checks

Two local merchants late last month were the victims of a Redwood City bandit who employed his loot to pass bad checks.

Stuck with bum checks today are Joe Freenberg of Farmers Market with $47.22; and E. Keithley of Keithley Grocer with $48.64.

The checks the two merchants cashed were among a score of blank company checks stolen from the Redwood City Auto Wreckers earlier in the month.

Both checks were made out, or endorsed by a Ray Gilbert. Police said the first check was cashed at Farmers Market, 6386 Mission, June 20, while the second check was passed the following day at the store next door.

A Chicken Is A Chicken, Is A ...

Chicken, chicken, whose got the chicken?

At 1:20 p.m. Friday a Mrs. Miller, 34 Bismark, reported to officers that several small boys had "lifted" a chicken from her backyard.

Officers soon found the 8-year-olds with the bird. The boys promised to bring the chickens home.

The lads were true to their word, only thing was they took the chicken to 74 Bismark, not 34 Bismark. Only trouble now is how to identify the "stolen" chicken. Seems the resident at 74 Bismark also keeps chickens, and the borrowed bird is now with the other birds.

A philosophical officer noted the residents would figure some way out of the mixup.

James Baird Is Latest Addition To Force

James Baird, 85 Orange Street, newest officer on the Daly City police force will be up for permanent appointment at the next regular meeting of the city council.

It is expected the council will approve Baird, and he will become a permanent officer on the force.

Elementary Teachers Want $100 More A Year... Plus Sliding Scale Increase

School Board Also Takes Action On Hiring New Teachers

Voters this fall may be asked to approve a slightly higher school tax to give teachers in the Jefferson Elementary School district a raise.

This was brought out by a representative of the teachers, Miss Blaylock, at the regular school board meeting Thursday evening. Some 30 people attended the meeting.

SEWAGE PLANT ELECTION SEEN IN NEXT 90 DAYS

State Has Required District To Build

One of the strangest elections in the history of Daly City is scheduled in the next two to three months.

At that time voters (including residents of Daly City, Broadmoor and Colma) will have an opportunity to either approve, or turn thumbs down on a new $400,000 sewage treatment plant for the north county sewage district.

However, the choice will be ra-

It was pointed out the election may be necessary as under state law the district can not grant raises over the income from present school tax money, and the school revenue at this time isn't adequate to meet the pay hikes.

The present minimum salary of teachers is $2,800 a year, with a maximum of over $4,000.

$100 Raise

Teachers have asked for a tentative $100 a year across the board increase, plus an increase based on the amount of time in the district, as well as the degree held by the teacher.

The board will meet with representatives of the teachers, and some definite action on the proposed election is expected at the next meeting.

In other teacher action, the board signed and approved contracts for 20 new teachers recommended by former Superintendent of Schools James Snell.

With three of four more vacancies to fill, the board then took under consideration an application by Mrs. Ruth Fisher for the job of 5th grade teacher at the new Westlake School. No action was taken on this application. Mrs. Fisher, who ran for a position on the school board recently, has been employed as a substitute teacher in both the elementary and high school districts over the past three years.

Westlake School

While on the subject of the Westlake school, the board appointed Mrs. Zenovich as principal for the new school. This followed the rejection of the job by Miss Varni.

Turning to the budget, the board announced a public hearing will be held August 2 to adopt the 1951-52 budget. Meanwhile, the board has adopted the tentative budget and has forwarded it to the county for approval.

Little Choice

Should taxpayers reject plans for the plant, the state would force the north county sewage district to proceed anyway.

"Regardless of this strange type of election, there is no question that Daly City and the area is in need of a better method of sewage disposal," Fred Bertetta, city councilman and member of the district board, said today.

"We are confident the people will back the district in its efforts to bring better living conditions to the area."

Preliminary plans call for the modern treatment plant to be located on a five acre site in Westlake. (This would be directly behind the new Standard Station on the Alemany Extension.)

No Time Wasted

Wasting no time in their plans for the plant, board members have instructed Engineer R. A. Klassen to proceed with the construction of a new outfall in the vicinity of the proposed project.

It is estimated the average cost to taxpayers will be from 45 to 75 cents a month. As planned now, the money would be added to the regular water bills.

"However, should the state force the issue, this would mean a much higher tax," Bertetta explained. "We would not be able to finance the project with revenue bonds, but would have to slap on a higher tax rate."

The reason for the state's insis-

1. Acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Pauline Kagan as art supervisor.

2. Lowering the limit of $500 to $50 for work done by the district which does not require the approval of the three members of the board.

3. Charles Becker, Westlake attorney, reported the county planning commission has approved a road between Broadmoor and Westlake. The school board must now call a public hearing to determine whether residents of the district are in favor of the street. No date has been set for the hearing.

4. Mrs. Elsie Berg urged the school board to do everything in its power to check double sessions of the 4th grade at Woodrow Wilson School next fall. The board gave assurance to Mrs. Berg that this matter would be taken care of with the help of the new superintendent.

5. Westlake residents asked that Architect Mario Ciampi be contacted to find out why there is a lag in construction of the new Westlake school.

Record Crowd Of 10,000 Turns Out For Fireworks Display At Marchbanks

Generally it was a quiet Fourth in Daly City, with only one child injured from fireworks.

She was Donna L. Checchi, 5 of South San Francisco, who suffered burns above her right eye when someone threw a firecracker into the large crowd which assembled at Marchbanks Park Wednesday night to see the city's fireworks display.

The child was treated at Junipero Serra hospital and released. Approximately 10,000 people turned out for the giant fireworks display at Marchbanks.

The large crowd was due, in no small part, to the fact that San

Daly City Remembers Band Brings Hope To Hospitalized Vets

Three Daly City men these days are doing a lot to help rehabilitate mentally ill veterans at the Veterans Administration hospital in Palo Alto.

In fact, through such simple means as a bull fiddle, steel guitar and banjo, several vets have taken out a new lease on life.

"When we first started going to the hospital, there wasn't much response. Lately, however, most of the men have shown a marked improvement," Joseph Lewkowitz, a member of the Daly City band, said.

Something New

Musical therapy is a relatively new treatment in mental cases, but it is one that has proven successful time and time again. Of course it takes more than music to bring a man back to the light of reality; but the strains of melody often release the tight nervous strain which holds a mind in bonds.

Neither Lewkowitz, Bert Merritt nor Art St. Charles (the other two members of the band) are psychiatrists, but they are doing their best to help the mental doctors.

"There's one fellow down there who used to be a famous drummer," Lewkowitz explained. "Our second trip we brought along some drums. It didn't take much persuasion to convince the patient he should try his old profession. It wasn't long before he was beating out time in better rhythm than any of us."

VFW Helps

The three local men often accompany ladies of local Veteran of Foreign War Auxiliaries who hold parties in conjunction with the musical evening.

And don't think the government doesn't appreciate the work being done by these local people. Just last week the Daly City band received a letter of thanks from W. A. Thiel, acting chief of special services for the hospital. Thiel said it was gratifying to know so many local residents had not forgotten the boys who are still fighting the wars from the confines of their minds.

Knock, Knock, Boom... Boys Make Good Escape

A knock which was closer to an explosion shook the front door of Mrs. Burstrom's home, 1 Riser Street, at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

When the lady arrived at the door she found no one there. However, out in the street several boys were running to escape.

Under the knocker was the remains of a large firecracker.

Local Boy Spends Summer In "Cast"

It's going to be a summer in a cast for 10-year-old Paul Tapia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tapia, 76 Mil-

Young Paul was crossing the intersection of Los Banos and Los Olivos at 9:30 p.m. Thursday when he was struck by a car. The force of the blow fractured Paul's leg. He was treated at Junipero Serra hospital, and a cast was immediately put on the leg.

Gale Owens, 433 San Diego was the driver of the car.

Police have issued no citations, pending further investigation.

OBITUARY

Alice C. Hambleton

Born in Texas 65 years ago, Alice Clay Hambleton passed away in the Community hospital Wednesday, July 4. She was a widow and has no known relatives.

Formerly of Redwood City, she did domestic work in Daly City. Cremation took place yesterday at the Cypress Lawn Memorial Park at 3 o'clock.

Merle W. Gadbury

Merle Wallace Gadbury, 66, passed away at the Mission Bell auto court where he lived with his wife Florence Sue Gadbury.

A native of Iowa, he was a construction worker for the Morrison Knudsen firm. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the VFW, Fidelity Sterling, Post No. 97.

Funeral services are being held today at 2:45 p.m. in the W. C. Lasswell & Co. mortuary and interment will follow at the Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Former Record Publisher Takes Oakland Job

A former publisher of The Record, Albert H. Boynton, 1401 Fairfax Street, Denver, Colorado, this week joined the personnel staff of the Pacific Intermountain Express Company.

Boynton left The Record in 1943 and for the past eight years has been associated with United Air Lines in personnel training activities. Since 1948 he has been with United as employee suggestion program superintendent in Denver.

Mr. Boynton, in joining P-I-E, will fill a newly created position of Training Director and will be responsible for supervisory training programs throughout the Company's interstate system.

He will also be responsible for programming and coordinating other training activities involving specialized job classifications. Boynton's headquarters will be at the P-I-E General Offices at Oakland, where he will be a member of the personnel division headed by V. L. Christiansen, Personnel Director.

Police Remind Car Owners Of City Law

Broadmoor May Now Set Up Urban District Without Joining Daly City

(Ed Note: This article is of special interest to Broadmoor and unincorporated Colma, and to those residents who seek the benefit of incorporation without actually joining Daly City.)

Proponents of measures authorizing the setting up of urban districts outside of incorporated areas of cities are having no end of chuckles over the outcome of legislation on this subject.

For with the passage of Assembly Bill 2034, by Assemblyman Thomas E. Caldecott, of Berkeley, the purposes and intent of urban districts were authorized, without the compulsory features of AB 3217, which was the subject of one of the heaviest lobbying campaigns in the legislature.

The story behind the passage of Caldecott's measure is a story of some pretty thorough knowledge of how to handle legislation, especially when a fight is involved.

Introduced Early

Caldecott's measure was introduced early in the legislative session, but no action was taken on it. Meanwhile, the battle between the cities and counties cropped up with the municipal and county government committees in each house having a choice between two bills, the city measure, AB 3217, and a bill by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, of La Canada, AB 2275, which permitted the setting up of urban districts on a voluntary basis.

The two measures were heard together in the assembly committee, 3217 was sent to the floor and passed, and Lanterman's bill stayed in committee.

In the Senate, 3217 went to an interim committee by a voice vote, and in the shuffle most people thought there would be no provision made for the creation of urban districts until the next session of the legislature, at least.

But they reckoned without Caldecott's measure. The Berkeley assemblyman sat on the bill until the smoke had cleared, ran it through both the senate and assembly unanimously, and no opposition was expressed anywhere along the line. It was kept out of the city-county fracas, and if signed by Governor Warren, will give the urban districts outside incorporated areas the opportunity to form districts for the financing through taxes or bonds of eight specific items.

These include:

Sewage and drainage; water; garbage; fire; recreation; street lighting; mosquito abatement and maintenance of adequate police protection.

New Districts

If districts form under the Caldecott measure, it is not necessary to incorporate. Yet the formation of a district is in the hands of the people, as 15 percent of the voters at the last gubernatorial election must petition for an election to be held on formation of the district.

Protection is added, in that the district may also be dissolved by vote of the people, and any part of such a district may become incorporated if the people so desire.

Generally, the complaint has been that urban districts are receiving city services, for which taxpayers within cities are paying. Proponents on the other side of the fence, however, maintain this charge is unfounded, as residents outside incorporated areas contribute as much to city income through parking meters, sales taxes, etc., for which they never derive any benefit.

Watchful Neighbor Stops Burglary

A watchful neighbor possibly saved William Guiliani, 708 Niantic, from a burglary on Wednesday.

At 10:20 p.m. William Brush, 704 Niantic noticed a stranger wandering around in back of the Guiliani home. As his neighbors were away on vacation, Brush became suspicious. When he hailed the stranger, the young man made a straight line for the railroad tracks.

Police arrived a few minutes later, but were unable to find the uninvited prowler.

Do You Issue A Tag For This?

Airplanes came under the keen scrutiny of local police and a Westlake resident last Tuesday.

At 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Dorr, 2 Belmont Drive, called officer to report an airplane was "buzzing" her home. She said the plane had come close to taking off the roof in one particular dive.

Police advised her that if this happened again to get the number and description of the offending plane, and the "right authorities" would be contacted. This is one job local officers are not equipped to cope with.

Local Family Visits Ghost Town

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Tollefran and daughter, Jackie, of 784 Templeton Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Swanson of 614 San Diego Avenue in Daly City, recently visited Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town in Buena Park, California.

There, like the forty-niners, they tried their luck panning real gold in the ancient sluice box at the old Gold Mine. Later, the wagon camp was visited, where in a huge circle real covered wagons were lighted by the flickering flames of a large camp fire.

Here, they wandered through the Music Hall, General Merchandise Store, the Covered Wagon Show, and many other buildings erected as a monument to the pioneers of the early West.

Sheridan PTA Slates Picnic

Sheridan PTA will hold its second picnic of the summer at Fleishacker Playground on Thursday, July 12 at 11:00 a.m.

Approximately 25 attended our first picnic and a good time was had by all. This is a good way to meet the parents of your children's schoolmates and to learn what a friendly group make up the PTA.

Guests from other units will also be most welcome to join the group.

Local Corporal Now In Japan

Corporal James A. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Robinson, 6843 Mission, has been assigned to the communications section of the Fifth Air Force's 51st Fighter Interceptor Wing.

As a ground radio operator, Cpl. Robinson's duties with the 51st communications section consist of establishing radio contact with other bases and maintaining electronic equipment vital to the 51st's communications network.

The communications section has contributed greatly to the 51st's high combat efficiency record of more than 12,000 F-80 jet Shooting Star combat missions over Korea.

A former student at San Mateo High School, San Mateo, Calif., Robinson enlisted in the Air Force just a few months after his graduation in June, 1949. Before his assignment to the Far East he was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, California.

Broadmoor Church To Begin Building

A total of $21,000 was donated to the new Community Presbyterian church's building fund in Broadmoor by the Presbyterian Board of National Missions and the Church Extension Board of the San Francisco Presbytery.

Contracts were negotiated this week with the Joel Johnson & Sons Construction firm, according to the Rev. John A. Glasse, and grading and foundation work will start immediately.

Total construction costs, including architectural fees, will amount to $84,000 for the proposed three-story Education Building.

Much of the cost of construction will be saved through the efforts of the Village Churchmen, a volunteer labor group under the leadership of Cedric Ladd.

At the present time there are 50 men in this group, divided into ten units of five men each. Two lieutenants, John Lepine and Tom Williamson, each supervise the activities of five units.

This volunteer labor group will take part in ground clearances and landscaping, helping to lay the asphalt-tile flooring, window glazing, woodwork, and other general duties.

There is still room on this work group, Rev. Glasse reported, if any interested Broadmoor residents wish to volunteer their services.

Numerous donations of construction materials will also lower the cost of construction. Some of the asphalt-tile flooring has been donated plus enough unmilled redwood to complete the church's interior finishing.

The social hall in the Education Building will be used as the Sanctuary Building. This social hall will also be a center for social activity for the youth of Broadmoor.

The area around the church will be used as a parking area during church services and a playground during the week with a recreational program proposed.

A building committee has been organized with Fred Hilger as chairman for this construction which has been in prospect for two years.

The Rev. Glasse said that he hopes the church will be dedicated at Thanksgiving.

Local Sailor Has First Leave

Walton Arthur Sharp of Daly City, now stationed in San Diego and some 95 of his Navy buddies paid a special visit recently to Knott's Berry Farm in Southern California.

They saw the famous Ghost Town with its ancient and authentic buildings, the old Gold Mine, Bottle House, General Store, and hundreds of relics of the days of '49. They spent an hour seeing the horse show as special guests of the farm.

Continuing their tour to include Hollywood, they visited the Columbia Broadcasting Studios and saw several radio shows.

These men are enjoying their first liberty after some six weeks in San Diego Naval Training "Boot Camp" and will return home for a short visit before reporting back for duty.

Apron Luncheon Is Social Occasion

With the price of the meal being a home made apron, members of the Crocker Parent-Teacher Association convened recently at the home of Mrs. Mary Wakefield, sewing chairman, of the organization, for a luncheon.

Those attending were Mesdames F. McKay, E. D'Isop, E. Hobbs, I. Blackburn, V. Palkka, J. Nordgren, A. Bradley, M. Seiler, E. Vranich, C. Mullen, A. Eason, O. Bordson, D. Rocky and A. Wittig. Present also was Mrs. Byron Jensen, president of the Jefferson High school Parent-Teacher Association.

The association wishes to thank the following women who were unable to attend but sent aprons: Mesdames Rose Watson, F. Hopman, F. Haussler and J. Tydingco.

July 10 has been set as the date for the PTA picnic, the meeting places for which are Mission and Evergreen streets, or Fleishacker's opposite the playgrounds, at 10 a.m. Busy working on the program for the coming year are Mrs. Catherine Mullen and Mrs. Erma Vranich.

THIS IS NO WAY TO BE INTRODUCED

A Castro Valley and San Francisco resident "met" in Daly City Sunday evening, but the "meeting" was far from cordial.

At 7:56 p.m. a truck driven by William Nolan, San Francisco, coincided with the rear end of a pickup driven by William Roberson, Castro Valley. Police say both trucks suffered some damage at the 6925 Mission place of meeting.

Nolan was cited for failure to stop.

THREE LANES ARE TWO TOO MANY SAY POLICE

One lane of a highway is usually enough for a driver, but Amy Turner, 228 A Street, Colma, allegedly used three July 4.

Police cited Turner for drunken driving when he allegedly was using all three lanes of Mission Street for a Wednesday afternoon drive.

He will tell the judge about it in police court this Friday. Presently, he has been released on $125 bail.

County Tax Dollars Should Be Spent Here

Not too many years ago people moved from San Francisco to Daly City to escape high taxes. It looks like those days are gone forever.

A close look at the proposed city and county tax rate for this community next year is sure to cause many a headache here. For the first time in 40 years it appears local residents may pay a tax equal to that of San Francisco, or possibly higher.

However, like everything else, figures are mighty deceptive. And while there is no getting around the hole in the paycheck, don't let the tax rate bounce you back to San Francisco.

For one thing, the city tariff may be two cents lower than last year. This is good news in anyone's language, and the boys at city hall are to be congratulated.

Another deceptive item is the school bond tax rate. This is high, but only because the two school improvement bond issues were passed recently. In the coming years, as a reserve is built up and the interest drops, this sum will decrease by as much as 50 per cent. And don't forget that schools are an institution well worth every penny spent.

Finally, there is no denying that as any community grows, so do the services. Consequently, we must expect higher taxes, if we expect a better way of life.

That's one side of the picture.

Here's the other. We can't see why county taxes have to go up, especially as the base for taxes in the county hit an all time high this year. From the amount of services Daly City collects from San Mateo County, it seems beyond reason to charge local residents almost $1.50 per $100 for county maintenance.

A strong county government is desirable when most of the area is unincorporated. However, we wonder how desirable it is to put out more and more dollars to build up a county bureaucracy when most of the populace lives within cities?

It appears to us it would be more desirable to spread those tax dollars in the area from which they are taken. As it stands now they are too many bucks and, what is worse, they are being spent in the south of the county.

What is to be done? We think this is where the city government is at fault, as well as the other cities in the north county. We think Daly City should have a strong voice in where its taxpayers' dollars go. And this voice should emanate from the city council.

A closer check on county activities by the city council is strongly advisable. We are of the opinion that one of the councilmen should be appointed for this very thing...to act as a type of unofficial lobbyist in Redwood City.

There may be other ways, better ways, to be heard; and we believe it is time the guys and gals who are putting out the dollars find that way.

As it is now just about one-half of your county taxes this year are going to do you as much good as a donation to the relief of underfed field mice.

School Board Should Not Hire Teachers

There has been much criticism levelled lately against the Jefferson Elementary School Board, some of it just; but most of it "just talk."

As the "late" James Snell said: "The board is no place for a fight. The board owes its first duty to the children."

We are in complete agreement with the former Superintendent of Schools. However, when we feel the board is not operating for the best interests of the children we say the time has come to speak.

That time has come now.

At the last meeting of the board, the members passed on a list of 20 teachers recommended by Snell. They agreed to hire all the teachers.

Then one of the members introduced an application by another candidate who wished to become a teacher in the district. The application had been submitted too late for Snell's approval, or disapproval, the minutes of the meeting indicate.

It was noted that there are three to four more teaching vacancies to fill.

Although this writer was not present at the meeting, we were told later by Mrs. Helen Cheatham that she could see no reason why the board could not hire teachers without the recommendations of a superintendent. Proceeding with this belief, she said the board should hire the teacher whose application was submitted at the past meeting.

The two other board members, Mike Callan and Andrew Van der Werff were contacted. Mr. Callan

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

With the sound and sight of doom emanating from every TV screen, the movies these days are redoubting their efforts to hold an audience. Frankly, we don't think the flickers have anything to worry about...at least as long as those two generals of Hollywood lead the troops of public opinion.

We speak of Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons, two loquacious gals whose style of writing is so wonderfully terrible that the only means of telling them apart is by their hats. (Although now that we think of it, just which one does operate a bonnet shop?)

Killers, All These two soothsayers and slayers of the English language hold a horrible fascination for the American public equalled only by the singing commercial.

Their grip is assured through exploitation of a simple human weakness, mainly that the center of every man's existence is a dream. And while Hollywood would be no more than a nightmare to most, it appears to be the never-never-land to millions of Americans. There anything can, and does happen; with either Hedda or Louella on deck to give a running account of the battle.

Take a recent heart rendering account by Hedda of the life and loves of Ava Gardner...here is a perfect example of something which is beyond the category of said he, too, believed the board had a right to hire teachers without the advise of a superintendent. He added, however, "only when there is no question about the teacher's qualifications." Mr. Van der Werff was of the same opinion.

We do not agree with the board members. It appears to us that the board is elected as an administrative group; as a voice of the parents in the school system.

The board is not elected as experts on the qualifications which make, or do not make a good teacher. This is the job of an expert...the superintendent of schools whose background gives him the ability to judge.

Of course no man's judgment is always perfect. And this is where the board comes in...for when there is a question over a teacher's ability, the board should be in a position to advise (not lay down the law) to the superintendent.

We feel these three board members were elected with that thought in the minds of the majority of the voters.

It is indeed unfortunate that this situation should have to arise at a time when a well known local woman has applied for a teacher's job. While we don't think the board should hire her without the approval of the superintendent, we in no way intend to judge her qualifications to teach. She may be the best teacher in this wide world, and we hope she is; but we still say an expert (not the board) must pass on her qualifications and the qualifications of other applicants.

It is indeed a dangerous thing when three citizens set themselves up to judge a specialized field, especially when that field is education.

A Dollar Spent Means Some Kid's Tears Stopped

A small bit of change from the city coffers would certainly save many a child a tear.

We speak of the recent theft of bikes from in front of Jefferson High School's gym and pool. During the past week at least three youngsters have lost their two wheelers to some of the meanest guys in town.

No on can expect our police to station a man to watch bikes...there are too few men, and too much to do as it is.

However, for a few dollars the city can purchase a bike rack with locks. A key to the rack can be given an attendant at the pool. Then when the small fry park their bikes they may do it, knowing when they return their property will be in place.

Those who do not use the rack can blame only themselves.

Big Loss Interested strictly in Ava's mental capacities and social adjustment to a world filled with Sinatras and baubles, we tackled Hedda's column. Frankly, it threw us for a loss; but in the gymnastics of trying to make sense from the adjectives and adverbs we learned first off that Ava's got a real craving to "stand on her own feet as an actress and personality." This is indeed news to the reader who was always under the assumption Ava was only known for a capacity to fill bathing suits and as the ex-frau of a guy called Rooney and a band leader by name of Shaw.

But Hedda tempers the shock by taking her readers into her confidence: "As this is written, the linking of Ava's name with Frank Sinatra is renewed." This makes things o.k. again, and lends veracity to a later conclusion by Hedda that since Ava has come up from the country, "a beautiful, naive, shy, young girl" she's "come a long way." Well, there's no arguing that point.

Spilled Beans Some may condemn Ava for tramping over a dozen or more men, but she can't help it. After all, she's like a "Greek statue, and can be attractive to men of all times and all nations." Besides that, "she's Southern, and colorful." Again, we pass.

And with those heroic words ringing in our ears we sadly leave the world of Hedda and Ava to wend our way back regretfully to our wife who is fighting to keep the diaper on the baby; and the realization that without Hedda TV just isn't here to stay.

Some four columns later we find that Ava is still trying to stand on her own two feet (size not given), and Hedda is giving her a moral boost with "Girl, you're hot copy simply as Ava Gardner." After that somewhat evident conclusion, Hedda winds up with the call to battle, "Keep on fighting."

And with those heroic words ringing in our ears we sadly leave the world of Hedda and Ava to wend our way back regretfully to our wife who is fighting to keep the diaper on the baby; and the realization that without Hedda TV just isn't here to stay.

DALE CARNEGIE
★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Invention By Mistake

IN June, 1922, a man named Alex Osborn, author of "Your Creative Power; How To Use Imagination," got on a train and went to Dayton, Ohio. When he arrived there he went to the research laboratory of the General Motors Company. He was given a guide and started through the plant, coming at last to a little room where three men were working with a small stationary engine. The guide was no other than Charles F. Kettering, the famous inventor.

"Here's the most promising experiment we have," said Kettering. "We think we can change gasoline until it will give five times as much power as it does at present."

The men worked for six years—and failed. But—and now comes the important point—they discovered something else that turned out to be highly important: Ethyl gasoline.

That, says Mr. Osborn, happens constantly. A person starts out to do one thing and fails. But sometimes he discovers something else that is important. This is brought out many times in his book.

As another example: The Corning Glass Company was brought a problem by a railroad executive. The lanterns used by the men employed on the road were constantly cracking when hit by icy sleet. The railroad wanted a lantern that would take it as it came.

The Corning people started in to develop a harder glass. The job seemed simple but it took seven years; in doing this they hit on something they hadn't started out to do: make a glass so hard that food could be cooked in it. The result was Pyrex. Since that time the women of America have bought over 300 million pieces of Pyrex.

Not only did the company thus turn up a new cooking glass, but it got a start on making glass for the now famous Palomar telescope near San Diego, California.

When Henry Ford was a young man on his father's farm he "foiled" with machinery. At last, he got a big idea. He would invent a wonderful steam engine for trains which would make all other steam engines look silly. He worked long and hard—and failed. But in doing this he hit on the idea of a self-propelled internal combustion engine. So he changed over from the thing he had started to do and made a stupendous success of the thing he hadn't even dreamed of doing.

You can buy a copy of Alex Osborn's book for $3.50, plus a bit of tax. If you buy it and read it and do nothing about it, you will be wasting your time and your money; but if you really apply it, you will live a more exciting and profitable life.

How I wish I had read this book thirty years ago. It should be used as a textbook in our colleges.

With drum majorette Rosalyn Adams in the front, the team made an impressive sight. Murge Kennedy is the captain of the organization.

Meanwhile, the team learned that at the San Bruno Posy Parade recently they won a prize for the best work in their field.

Also, a spokesman reports the team will take part in the State Fair at Sacramento, September 2.

No Thief: But Police Thanked For Courtesy

Mrs. Pollard, 124 E. Vista, thought she needed the police at 11:30 p.m. Friday.

When Officer Charles Munday arrived at the Pollard residence he searched the basement for a supposed prowler Mrs. Pollard had heard.

No thief was found, although Mrs. Pollard thanked Officer Munday for his quick appearance.

Two Local Residents Involved In Accident

Involved in a minor automobile accident at the intersection of Oliver and Bellevue at 6:50 p.m. last Friday were two local residents.

They were: Frank Garin, 99 Bellevue and Neddia Bunner 259 Frankfort.

Police report "minor damage," and neither of the drivers was cited.

REAR VIEW MIRROR

Before making a turn or slowing down, always glance in your rear-view mirror urges the California State Automobile Association. By so doing, you will be better able to avoid turning in front of a car following or stopping short in front of such a car.

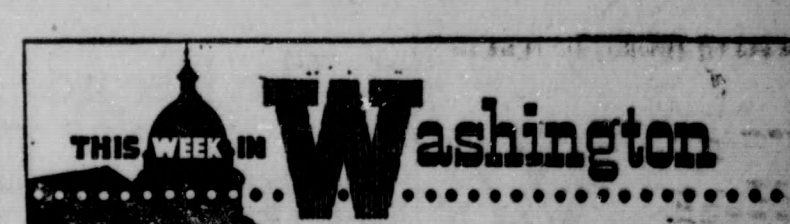

In a moment of weakness Ava really spilled the beans about her matrimonial misfortune. After two courageous attempts at keeping the ring on the left finger, she concluded that "marriage is a full time job." She was devoting more time to the movies than to beans on the stove. And while later Hedda notes she "played her cards well," marriage proved nothing but a joker.

Some four columns later we find that Ava is still trying to stand on her own two feet (size not given), and Hedda is giving her a moral boost with "Girl, you're hot copy simply as Ava Gardner." After that somewhat evident conclusion, Hedda winds up with the call to battle, "Keep on fighting."

And with those heroic words ringing in our ears we sadly leave the world of Hedda and Ava to wend our way back regretfully to our wife who is fighting to keep the diaper on the baby; and the realization that without Hedda TV just isn't here to stay.

Carnegie

NOT within the memory of the oldest observer here has the Congress been so in arrears in its legislative program. So hamstrung has the congress been by a maze of probes, investigations and hearings, that not only major legislation has been strewn by the wayside, but the actual appropriation bills are far from passage, with the fiscal year ending June 30.

So engrossed has the congress been in these various extra-curricular investigations, outstanding of which was the ouster hearings on the General MacArthur case, which drew the attendance of many senators that regular committee work could not proceed and the congress has sought to even by-pass its own rules and to legislate by short cuts in these same appropriation bills through the technique of hastily added "riders." In at least thirty instances, these "riders" have been added to appropriation and other basic legislation. A strict congressional rule is that where riders mean a change in substantive law they are out of order. Both senate and house appropriations committees have overridden basic laws passed by the whole congress simply by attaching a legislative rider to an appropriations bill, contrary to all rules, for the appropriations committees are charged only with providing funds for government agencies to pay their bills.

Riders often slip by. Several riders now in appropriations bills would prohibit replacement of federal employees; a slash by the house in public housing to 5,000, although there is a public law which permits 135,000 public housing units. The Senate has its own housing rider, overruled the house rider, but cut the housing unit to 50,000 starts. The public power program has been undermined by riders on appropriations bills and one rider, which has been set aside by the President as inimical to the country's best interests, would ban any economic aid whatever to nations shipping materials to Russian satellite nations, or any nation which might ship material which could be used by Russia or China.

The next big probe likely will be that of the so-called China lobby.

said to be headed in this country by the Bank of China in New York and operated by brothers-in-law of Chiang Kai-Shek, whose front is said to be one Alfred Kohlberg, New York importer, who reportedly supplied Senator McCarthy with funds for his campaign against the state department. Institution of the China lobby probe was started by Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, backed by Senator Brian McMahon.

Latest "low" achieved by Senator McCarthy, according to most people here, was his vicious attack on General George C. Marshall, Secretary of Defense, and termed by President Truman as the "greatest living American." McCarthy declared General Marshall part of a conspiracy to weaken the United States, so that it will fall a victim to Russian intrigue here and Russian military might from without. Senator Hubert Humphrey immediately classified the latest McCarthy tirade as an adaptation of Hitler's big lie technique. McCarthy started his speech, 169 pages long, saying he would talk eight hours. He had about twelve senators and a well filled gallery of listeners. After about three hours, though, he had three senators and no gallery so he quit and had the rest of his speech entered in the congressional record. The Senators who "sat through" were Wherry of Nebraska, Langer of North Dakota and Hendrickson of New Jersey, and they applauded McCarthy's unbridled attack on the venerable Secretary of Defense.

General Wedemeyer, who, by the way, has asked for retirement and had the grace to doff his uniform, appearing in "civvies" before the Senate Committee, generally backed the policies of General MacArthur in the far east. However at the tag end of his testimony he nullified his entire stand before the committee when he was asked by Senator John J. Spackman: "General, in case of a disagreement between a field commander (General MacArthur) and the Joint Chiefs, to whom should we look for guidance?" And the general's reply: "The Joint Chiefs of Staff without question, sir."

Mrs. Ruth Fisher Outlines Features Of A Good Teacher

On last Thursday evening there was the regular public meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees. It was a most gratifying meeting with a large number in attendance.

There were many questions discussed in the course of the business that had to be transacted and those present were inspired to ask questions of the board. I do not intend to give a word for word account of this meeting for that is an impossibility unless we had more space. And besides, it is always more gratifying to be at these meetings than to have someone else tell it.

However among the more discussed topics was that of scholarship in our school curriculum. All sorts of questions and ideas were brought into focus with this subject. The most outstanding emphasis was on the measuring of the scholarship of the children. The parents wanted to know how we as a school district rated with others in the state and in the country. In answer to these queries actual statistical information was given. To this there arose a further discussion about rating the intelligence of school children. And it seems that through special tests given periodically, children are rated according to their intelligence and their ages. All of which is a very useful method of determining to a great extent, your child's capabilities from his schooling. This method is used in about every state and it is supposed to be a very good way of telling how well a child is progressing and also where to place him in grade.

I agree that these tests are useful. However the extent of that usefulness can become over-emphasized. As one member of the gathering expressed it, such tests could very well rate us an average to go by, but do we all wish to be just average? In other words, such tests set a certain amount of average to be upheld. Therefore do we wish to be in an average class and also, who and what and why is average? I should say that there is just about enough average all over the place right now. Who am I to say that one group is average, or another group is above average or below average. But that is just the way our children are being rated.

Tests, Examinations, Average, Rate, Class, Look at these words! These are words that have come to be traps in a political world. It is safe to say that almost every person in the world is different in some way from every other one. We are individuals. It is a pity that schools cannot be in a position to consider the child more as an individual than as one in a class. The world is full of regimentation of all kinds and it has crept into our schools to such a degree that we are not really aware of it. It would be well for us to take account of ourselves and insure our individuality. It is so easy to become a part rather than a unit of a whole! And I say that more attention needs to be given to the small degrees of growth in the individual child so that he can become a complete person. And every child has that right. The right is his to be free of dominance. There are people who have a natural yen to rate and regiment...and scale the individual child in too many groupings! This is probably because of overcrowded classrooms.

Up To Parents So it is up to the parents to try to encourage the teacher to see the child as an individual. That is a difficult thing to do when most of the methods of education have become so classified that you must be in some sort of a group.

I can see that these are traps and hazards which will be hard to overcome. But we must look into the situation now! For I believe that everyone has a contribution to give to the world if he is a complete unit within himself and not a part of a big red machine. It is a complete unit that has the capacity to give a complete contribution, which is an incentive to the individual as well as to the several individuals.

Sincerely,
The Observer,
Mrs. Ruth Fisher

Peggy Parsons Goes To Altar With Prominent Local Doctor

Absent on a six weeks honeymoon flying tour of Central and South America are Dr. Robert Franklin Gobar of Daly City and his bride, the former Peggy Helen Parsons, whose marriage took place Saturday at the Westminster Presbyterian church in Pasadena.

Officiating at the candlelight ceremony was Dr. Graham Hunter of Fullerton.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Parsons of 2063 Shakespeare drive, San Marino, wore a fairy-like creation of white nylon marquisette fashioned with an off shoulder trim of viennese lace dusted with rhinestones. Other features of the gown were soft puffed sleeves edged in the same trim and a full skirt and train deeply ruffled from a band of the same lace and rhinestones. A three tiered finger tip veil fell from a crown of matching lace. Her bouquet was of white orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Bruce Arnold, while the maid of honor was Miss Patricia Parsons. Bridesmaids numbered Mesdames Edward Teal, Thomas Murrieta and Robert Stroschein and Misses Nancy Mervig and Carolyn Rhoades.

The groom who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Gobar of Fullerton, was attended by Dr. W. L. Delaray as best man and ushers were Robert Stroschein, Gilbert Hemmer, John Nellans, Robert Quast, Dr. Frank Rogers and Dr. Joseph Bray.

The bride is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, after which she obtained a Master of Arts degree at the University of Southern California. She received the Associated Women Students award for outstanding service to U.C.L.A. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi, Spurs and Key & Scroll organizations.

Dr. Gobar is a graduate of Stanford University Medical school and a member of Nu Sigma Nu. Dr. and Mrs. Gobar will make their home in Daly City.

Sunshine and Sewing Group Active Through Summer With Colma P. T. A.

The Sunshine and Sewing Group of the Colma P.T.A. has completed and turned in for the season, five knitted caps, 25 housewives service kits and 1 afghan.

At a tea in the home of Mrs. M. Pauline Brown, Colma District American Red Cross Chairman, Mrs. Herbert Green and her daughter; Mrs. Alan F. Mori, Mrs. William Chessman, and Mrs. John Wiesner, president, turned the finished items over to Mrs. Brown.

One of our group, just returning from a vacation in the east is Mrs. Dale J. Stoeckey and her family. She visited in Canada and points of interest along the way.

Speaking of vacation, shall we look to safety?

Remember the child on the street is your responsibility!

Since School is out, there are more children to watch out for all day long. Stop! Look! Listen!

Caution: Bicycle Riders! Signal your intentions. Travel at a safe speed! Stay off the main highways.

Too Quick A Stop Injures Young Girl

Too quick a stop almost sent Dolores Madden, 8, of 203 Knowles street, through the windshield of her father's car.

Junipero Serra hospital authorities report Madden brought his daughter to the hospital for treatment of a head bruise at 9:17 p. m. July 4.

Madden explained that his daughter had struck the windshield when he stopped suddenly.

Daly City Garden Club To Meet Next Tuesday For Flower Discussion

Guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Daly City Garden Club next Tuesday, July 10, will be Mr. Viola of the Viola Seed Company, it was announced today.

He will speak on "Flower and Vegetable Seeds." Following the talk, there will be a period of questions and answers for those in the audience.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. L. DeLeon. Flower arrangements will be exhibited by Mrs. DeLeon and Mrs. D. M. Bunkley.

The meeting will be held at the Hall of Flowers of the Bungalow

Vacation Bible School Planned

Bethel Lutheran Church, Alameda Boulevard and Huron Avenue, will conduct a Vacation Bible School for two weeks, Monday to Friday, beginning next Monday, July 9th, at 9 a.m.

The classes will meet every morning until noon. The pastor, the Rev. Herbert P. Schroeder, is the superintendent, and will be in charge of the opening devotions each day. The time will be divided between Bible Study and Handicraft Projects. Film Strips will present the doctrines of the Apostles' Creed.

The teaching staff is as follows: Mesdames Anna Angelus, Luise Beedle, Elizabeth Bell, Catherine Miromontes, and Anna Ohlendorf. Miss Betty Drollinger is to serve as pianist.

All children of Sunday School age are invited to attend.

Lutheran Church Services

In response to several Lutheran families desiring to worship at an early hour during the summer months, the Rev. Robert G. Konzelmann announces an 8:30 a. m. Divine Worship Service starting this Sunday, July 8.

This is in addition to the 11 a. m. service. Sunday School and Bible Classes as usual at 9:45 a.m.

The Lutheran Church of Our Savior is located at Garfield and Junipero Serra Blvd. and further details may be had from the pastor by phoning JU 4-8501 or JU 4-0293.

Women Of Moose Install Officers

In a very beautiful and colorful ceremony new officers of Chapter No. 739 San Francisco Women of the Moose were installed June 24.

The installation ceremony took place at the Moose Lodge, 859 O'Farrell.

Installing Chairman Irene Library presented the new officers for the year.

The new incoming Senior Regent Ernie Heyberger received a gift from the chapter, a Sunbeam Mixer. Outgoing Jr. Grand Regent Vivian Lasko was presented her graduate ring by Deputy Grand Regent Gladys Sisco.

The ceremony was closed with several numbers by the choral group. Refreshments were served by members of the chapter.

8-Year-Old Ends Holiday In Hospital

One 8-year-old boy, Tommy Torres of 60 Goethe street, had a pretty bad holiday, July 4.

At 10:30 p. m. the Daly City ambulance was called to take Tommy from his home to Junipero Serra hospital. He was suffering from a hemorrhage.

From Junipero Serra he was transferred to Mary's Help Hospital. His condition is reported as good today.

Too Quick A Stop Injures Young Girl

Too quick a stop almost sent Dolores Madden, 8, of 203 Knowles street, through the windshield of her father's car.

Junipero Serra hospital authorities report Madden brought his daughter to the hospital for treatment of a head bruise at 9:17 p. m. July 4.

Madden explained that his daughter had struck the windshield when he stopped suddenly.

Guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Daly City Garden Club next Tuesday, July 10, will be Mr. Viola of the Viola Seed Company, it was announced today.

He will speak on "Flower and Vegetable Seeds." Following the talk, there will be a period of questions and answers for those in the audience.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. L. DeLeon. Flower arrangements will be exhibited by Mrs. DeLeon and Mrs. D. M. Bunkley.

The meeting will be held at the Hall of Flowers of the Bungalow

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Well the fourth has come and gone, in a blaze of fireworks. In spite of bans and complaints, Independence Day was ushered in with the usual noise and excitement, and the few complainers who forgot they were kids once themselves were obliged to stuff cotton in their ears and forbear.

Some families took the traditional picnic lunch and set out for the hinterlands, others took in the parade or visited friends, but statistics prove a lot of people just stayed at home and garden, rested or did just as they pleased. Holiday accidents which have been running an all time high receded somewhat, and the toll for the fourth is considered low in comparison with other years—in this area, of course.

Biggest treat for the home-towners in many years, was the fireworks exhibition, which took place at Marchbanks Park, and could be seen for miles. Colored bursts of stars and flashing comets, wails, full thunderous reverberations, filled the sky at darkness.

From a distance of ten blocks from the Park, one could hear the Ohss and Ahss from the kiddies as the shooting stars exploded in a brighter and more beautiful array. One saw a goodly number of kids (the grown-up type) with sparklers, fuses, etc., showing Junior "how"—to Junior's loudly audible objections.

Here and there a flag, sparkling in the bright sun and whipped by the fresh ocean breeze reminded one of the glory of our heritage, how precious it is and how we must vigilantly protect it and all it stands for.

It might be as good a time as any to dedicate ourselves to the highest principles of our citizenship by living, speaking and doing the most patriotic things we can.

The church wishes to express its thanks to the Caravaners and to the teachers and assistants for the splendid work they accomplished during the two week session of the summer. Mrs. William Harberts, superintendent, has declared herself very happy over the success of the school and the fine interest shown by the students.

Sunday, July 8, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered, and the pastor will bring a communion message.

Mrs. Boggio Named Godparent Sunday

Smiling with that certain air today is Mrs. Bill Boggio, 103 Irvington, who became a godparent Sunday.

Mrs. Boggio, better known as secretary to Judge W. J. Sweeney, is the godparent to Sandra Ida Vincini, 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vincini of San Francisco.

Along with Mrs. Boggio as a godparent is her husband, Bill, entrepreneur, and partner to Vincini.

Young Sandra was christened at St. Vincent Church. Following the ceremony, the parents entertained the godparents and other guests in their Marina apartment.

Bible School Has Successful Season

Marked by excellent attendance, the daily vacation Bible school of the Grace Presbyterian Church closes Friday with a program at 11 a. m. followed with a basket dinner for all the pupils and their parents.

The church wishes to express its thanks to the Caravaners and to the teachers and assistants for the splendid work they accomplished during the two week session of the summer. Mrs. William Harberts, superintendent, has declared herself very happy over the success of the school and the fine interest shown by the students.

News of Your Neighbors WELCOME To Daly City

New Families Moving Into Daly City Recently Include

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dexter, 199 Whittier, moved to Daly City from the Glen Park district in San Francisco. They have three children—Donna 17, Dan 15, and George 7 years-of-age.

Mr. Dexter is a sheet metal worker who is employed by a firm in South San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt T. Koch, 20-A Flournoy street, moved to Daly City after residing in San Francisco for 20 years. Mr. Koch works for the P.G.&E.; they have no children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Henry, 472 Santa Barbara avenue, moved from Grafton street in San Francisco where they lived for three years. Mr. Henry, who works as a salesman for the Underwood Corp., and his wife originally came to California from Minnesota four years ago. They have one son, Richard, who is two, going on three years-of-age. "I think we're going to like Daly City," Mrs. Henry said.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Lucchesi, 149 Santa Cruz avenue, lived on Quesada avenue in San Francisco before moving to Daly City. Mr. Lucchesi works for the National Terazzo Tile Co. There is one girl in the family, Donna, who was two years old July 5. Mrs. Lucchesi said, "I like Daly City fine."

Sunshine Means Headache To Firemen

Sunshine meant a pleasant July 4 for everyone but the firemen. Thanks to the warm days a grass fire broke out on the hills at the end of Vendome avenue.

At 3:25 p. m. firemen of Company No. 2 arrived and within a few minutes had the blaze under control.

luncheon invitations filled a very pleasant week end, spent in exceedingly enjoyable company.

The Guide Reginelli's and their little daughters are off to Russian River. . . Hal and Gladys Orth were spotted getting a real sun tan at Odd Fellows Camp in Cottage Park, same vicinity. . . Mabel and Wayne Keen sojourning in Montana, visiting old friends.

NUPTIAL NOTE

A quiet, but beautiful ceremony took place last Saturday, June 30, when the Rev. Harberts joined in marriage Alberta Perro and James Miller. The wedding took place at the Rev. Harbert's home on Peoria Street with Mr. Harold Perro giving his daughter in marriage.

Standing up for the couple were Mrs. John Ewen and Mrs. Harberts. The bride wore a pale blue two piece model with which she wore white accessories and carried a small spray of Johanna Hill roses. The benedict, son of Mrs. Serra Miller of 312 Bellevue, disclosed that the couple will make their home here.

FROM KOREA TO CANADA

Vacationing in the northland recently were Mr. and Mrs. Lefler, of 11 Miriam street, following his return from Korea where Mr. Lefler served with the U. S. Navy. Latest word is his subsequent transfer to Germany.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

It was quite a soiree at the home of Mrs. Lena Pardini of 198 Crocker avenue, when her daughter, Josephine Palente, entertained 14 little guests and their parents, on the occasion of her little girl's second birthday. Mrs. Pardini's grand-daughter received many beautiful gifts which she had some time opening, and the decor included veneered ice cream and cake, some of which no doubt found its way into the stomachs of this indomitable group. They adjourned early in favor of naps. . .

STORK NEWS

It was a baby shower for Mrs. Bob Grimes, nee Wheeler, given last week at 32 Eastlake, the residence of the hostess Mrs. Al. In-taschi. Many friends gathered to shower her with tiny necessities for a junior addition.

SUMMER SEMINAR

An interesting group of visitors to our town, are the Caravan Group No. 3 who are guests of Rev. and Mrs. Harberts and Grace Presbyterian church. The leader, Anita Jean Walker is from Tucson, Arizona, and a senior at Arizona U. Sherman Lum of Camerson House, S. F., recently graduated from George Washington High, Elinor Jacobs hails from Milwaukee, (Beloit U.) and Marion Titus is a senior attending U. C. at Berkeley. This volunteer group of students has been participating in Christian work for the summer, assisting Bible and craft classes as well as surveys.

JOTTINGS

A belated orchid to the Frank Lombardi's on their eighth wedding anniversary. . . Newly remodeled in the modern manner is Pete Marcovich's office at Mission street. He did not buy a chartreuse suit to match!

Lex Boyd, popular T.V. disc jockey, relaxing at Tom Mitchell's Club Casino, on quiet nights. . . Local scenes and set-ups, yes, and Citiz-zens too, in "Life" magazines Cereghino lay-out. . .

Barbara Stein, local tennis star, awaiting a civil service appointment.

Joe Verducci, announcing withdrawal from the Far Western Conference, promises higher caliber games for his S.F. State football team, which means we are going to be able to see some "big games," and practically "next door" too!

Reunion plans already for Jeff grads '51, which seems a good idea. . . Star crop—Yes?

Old Glory Members Attend Meeting

At the recent encampment of the Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in Santa Cruz, several members of Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044, VFW, were present.

These members include: Ruth Brulez, Eleanor Cochran, Ethel Dorn, Marie Gehrig, Bonnie Ellenwood, Marjorie Johnson, Clara Poket and Lorraine Schneider.

It was announced at this meeting that the 1952 encampment will be held in San Diego.

Meanwhile, last Thursday evening Mrs. Dorn and Mrs. Poket attended the regular monthly meeting of the Hospital Advisory committee at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital.

Plans were made for the hospital carnival which will be held Sunday, July 21, at the hospital.

Barn Dance Slated

Tickets soon will go on sale for a barn dance, purpose of which is to raise funds for a cooperative nursery school in Broadmoor.

The dance, to be held August 18 at Colombo Hall, is sponsored by the Village Play School. This is an organization of Broadmoor parents who have banded together to form a nursery school.

As planned now, the school will open in the fall at the Colma Community Center. However, funds are badly needed to purchase materials to improve the hall as well as to buy needed equipment.

As an added attraction to the dance, a T.V. set, electric dryer and power lawn mower will be given away.

Chairmen for the affair promise a good orchestra, and plenty of comfort. . . those attending can come in the casual wear associated with barn dances.

Watch The Record for further details.

SCHOOL BUS HAS "ACTIVE" SUMMER

While most school buses enjoy a deserved rest during the holidays, the one at Jefferson Elementary School was the center of some unwanted activity over the weekend.

Bill Webb, school employee, reported that someone entered the bus by breaking one of the windows. Inside the thief lifted two fire extinguishers, and dumped the contents of a first-aid kit on the floor.

Nothing else was disturbed, Webb said.

Thief Robs Spry Of Summer's Fun

A spry, sly thief Thursday robbed Billy Spry of a summer's pleasure.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Spry, 536 87th Avenue, Broadmoor, had parked his new bike in front of the Jefferson High School playground. When he came back to get the bike two hours later it was missing.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By
MRS. CATHERINE
CONRAD
EDWARDS
Associate Editor,
Parents' Magazine

WHEN a friend of ours took her six-year-old son to his first big league game last week she called his attention to the vast number of people in the stadium—more than he had ever seen in his life.

"Yes," replied her son with an odd mixture of resignation and smugness, "and I suppose they'll all be talking about how long my eyelashes are."

It took our friend a moment to catch her breath and when she gasped an astonished "Why?", the boy replied calmly, "Well, every one always does."

Mother took stock after that and began to remember that, indeed, visitors in her home had quite regularly re-echoed, "Where did you get those long eyelashes?" No wonder her youngster thought his visual equipment must be noteworthy enough to draw attention away from the baseball diamond!

The art of making conversation with children seems a lost one where most adults are concerned. Their remarks too often take on a stilted repetitious quality: "My, how tall you've grown," or "How much you look like your mother," or unthinking comment on a physical characteristic like this little boy's eyelashes.

Even when this kind of talk takes a complimentary turn, it tends to make a child self-conscious. But worse than this, some normally well-mannered people are guilty of cruel candor where their juniors are concerned. "It's too bad her hair is so straight," or "What a pity he has to wear those disgusting braces on his teeth," they say, just as if they thought all small fry were conveniently deaf or completely insensitive.

A wise mother can do much to discourage this kind of personal comment and will certainly do her best to counter the hurt and embarrassment caused by a thoughtless, frank visitor. But unfortunately, there are a good many mothers who themselves make a practice of discussing their own youngsters while they are well within earshot.

"I don't know what to do about Mary, she is so awkward," says one such careless mother, apparently with no realization that Mary's self-confidence shrivels under the public criticism.

Actually to avoid this kind of mistake, it is only necessary to remember one's manners. What adult would be guilty of embarrassing another by such unvarnished, unsolicited home-truths. And why should we take the attitude that children's sensibilities are any less acute or that they suffer less than their elders from having their frailties brought to attention? Childhood would come nearer to being the ideally happy time—the poets picture it if all of us took care to treat young people—toys and teenagers—with the same courtesy we observe in our association with grownups.

To Serve the Public... Bank of America will remain open on Saturdays

For your accommodation Bank of America will continue to render banking service on Saturday.

This bank considers itself a public service institution, rendering service at such time and in such manner as the people determine best suits their needs.

Since Saturday is the busiest day of the week at our bank, it is apparent to us that many workers, farmers, small and large businessmen—and others—find it most advantageous to conduct their banking business on that day.

WATER IN CRANKCASE

A defective cylinder head gasket may allow water from the automobile engine's cooling system to leak into the crankcase, according to the California State Automobile Association. When this trouble is suspected, it may be detected by checking the motor oil with the engine running. If the oil appears foamy on the dip stick there is usually water in the oil.

Florence Hannah, John Murphy
Wed At Grace Presbyterian

by Diane Daly

With white daisies peeking out of the window niches and four fern decked candelabra standards lighting the flower banked altar, Florence Hannah and John Murphy recited their vows last Saturday, June 30.

The wedding, which took place in the afternoon, was held at the Grace Presbyterian Church. The Rev. William Harberts officiated at one of the season's outstanding social events.

In white choir robes, June Lemon and Lois Rentch as candle-lighters performed their duties after which Miss Marion Walker sang "Because."

For her nuptials Florence wore an exquisite white satin traditional gown beautifully styled with an embroidered lace yoke and effecting a long train. A fingertip veil was held in place by a matching lace circlet, and she carried a white bible, which belonged to her grandmother. Mr. Stanford Hannah escorted his daughter up the aisle and gave her in marriage.

Preceding the bride were bridesmaids Mary Convery and Beverly Looney who wore identical ankle length frocks of embroidered organza in pale green. Their bouquets and headbands fashioned of talisman roses. The bride's sister, Mrs. John Morrow of Garberville was matron of honor, and her dress in yellow embroidered organza, matched the bridesmaids' attire.

Almost stealing the show was her aunt's flower girl was four year old Linda Sue Morrow, who was delightful in a miniature bouffant model of yellow embroidered organza edged with lace. In her dark hair she wore a headband of talisman roses and in her hands she carried a basket of petals which she dropped very prettily, seeming to enjoy her role, as much as the spectators enjoyed her.

The groom was attended by his brother, William Murphy, and usher duties were carried out by Paul McClure and Fred Waterman.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. Guests approached the receiving line under an arch of fern and greenery, interspersed with white blossoms. Mrs. Stanford Hannah was best lady. The bride and groom were seated at the head of the table. The bride's father, Mr. John Morrow, gave the bride away. The ceremony was held at 4:30 p.m. in the church Fellowship Hall.

Notice is hereby given, that on Monday, the 30th day of July, A.D. 1951, at 10:15 o'clock A.M., at the main entrance of the court house, County of San Mateo, City of Redwood City, in the County of San Mateo, State of California, I will sell all the right, title and interest of said KATHLEEN LIEBHART in and to the above described property at PUBLIC AUCTION, for cash in legal money of the United States, to the highest and best bidder, to satisfy said Execution and all costs.

PRANKSTERS SMASH IT, DIDN'T FIX-IT

Somebody was out for a reverse play in the case of the "Fix-It Shop," 6178 Mission, Monday afternoon.

Armed with a .22 calibre rifle or a powerful B. B. gun, unidentified boys put a hole through the window of the shop. The hole was so placed as to completely ruin a large plate glass window.

Today the manager of the shop, M. J. Harlow, is carrying his work to his front window, and he is on the outlook to "fix" the culprits who put the hole in his business.

B'MOOR PROPERTY OWNERS ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEET

A special meeting was held by the Broomoor Property Owners Association last Friday, June 29, to discuss the Association's status in handling problems which have effected property owners in the last three years.

According to Joseph Elliott Jr., president of the association who presided over the meeting, 60 interested residents attended the meeting.

The residents were enlightened as to the scope and power of the association's Board of Directors to act on behalf of the property owners.

Prominent in the discussion were Fred Hilger and Stanley Neveloy, members of the board.

Also in attendance at the meeting were representatives from the Federal Housing Administration, the Veterans Administration, and Supervisor Thomas Hickey from the San Mateo County Board of

A similar meeting was held a year and a half ago, but alleged property irregularities were not worked out to the satisfaction of interested residents, so this second meeting was held.

On Thursday, July 12, the Association's Board of Directors will hold their regular meeting and will discuss the problem in greater detail, Mr. Elliott said.

SCHOOLS

FOR THE BLIND

Appointment of Mrs. Kathryn Enright as a teacher for blind children in a new class to be opened for blind children of the county in September, was announced by James R. Tormey, County Superintendent of Schools.

Mrs. Enright received her original training at the University of Washington in Seattle, and recently secured her Master's in Special Education from San Francisco State. Prior to joining the County Staff, Mrs. Enright was a certified transcriber of Braille for the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. For the past year she has been a home instructor for the Variety Club Blind Babies Foundation of San Francisco.

The class for blind children of elementary school age will be held at one of the San Mateo elementary schools starting in September. County Superintendent of Schools Tormey requests any parent of blind children in the elementary age group, who would like to enroll their child, to contact the County Office, Court House, Redwood City, EMerson 6-5711.

CRIME

TOUGH TIMES AHEAD

Where at one time dope peddlers were given the legal brush off, it looked like things had changed.

Without wasting words this week Superior Judge Murray Draper said he, for one, would lower the boom on dope "pushers."

A "pusher" is the lowest in the trade, making his money from dope by getting others to use the stuff.

And to prove he wasn't fooling, Judge Draper noted of a user he was sentencing: "There is no proof of sale." "If the court felt he distributed narcotics, he would be sent to the state prison without further ado."

Marion Fleck, 24, and J. G. Munoz, 22, who are accused of selling dope to South City youngsters, appear to be on their way to prison. They come up before Judge Draper this Friday.

THE COUNTY

Property Values Up

Business was booming in San Mateo County.

To the joy of everyone County Assessor O. B. Hempstead reported this week that county property values have reached an all time high of $300,000,000. This represents a 13.28 per cent gain over values of a year ago.

And if that were not enough, Hempstead said it looked like it was only the beginning. He pointed out that this year's sum was almost double that of 1945, and there was no reason why it shouldn't double again in 1956.

Daly City wasn't doing badly either. Values here showed a $2,176,187 gain last year for a total of $9,334,825. Broken down this was: land, $2,840,785; improvements, $7,124,600; personal property, $684,345; exemptions $1,902,765.

Now everyone was wondering why the county tax rate, with this increased base, couldn't go down instead of up.

UP-UP-UP THEY GO

At one time being a county Supervisor was more a name than a lucrative proposition.

Not so, anymore. This week Governor Earl Warren signed a bill increasing the supervisor's salaries.

The pay boost is from $3,600 to $4,800 a year.

Supervisors were to jump on the new gravy train October 1.

CALIFORNIA LAST WEEK

THE GOVERNOR, like a lot of the rest of California's state officials, "took off" right after the legislative session. He spent Monday in Modesto, attending a function, and Tuesday, was in San Francisco to address the Western Highway officials. On Wednesday, there was a district attorneys' convention at Lake Arrowhead, and on Thursday, he visited the 49th Division at Camp Cooke, also the California Cadet Corps which is encamped at San Luis Obispo. Friday, he attended the board of inter-governmental relations, which dealt with civil defense affairs, meeting in San Francisco.

THE LEGISLATURE also "took off," although there were a few stragglers around last week cleaning out desks, and mailing home books and papers. There were no legislative bills signed during the week, although the Governor's office was processing those which were passed during the last nine days of the session, so they will be ready for the Governor's signature. He has 30 days to complete signature or veto of the measures.

THE DEPARTMENTS: State Water Project Authority held a meeting and discussed the matter of finding money to start engineering features of the Feather River project, authorized but not financed by the state legislature. Employment reported high employment levels throughout the state and said once again, there is beginning to be a choice of jobs. Motor Vehicles issued stringent warnings regarding crowded conditions on the highways and Division of Forestry warned against forest fires.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Does It Pay?

ELIZA HARRIS, of Plainfield, N.J., sends me the following letter, which I consider remarkable.

"Does my name sound firm and New Englandy and business-like?" she begins. "If it does, it fits me. I'm 38, good-looking, tall, married to a nice fellow for 10 years, mother of four children. Girls of 8 and 4. Boys of 9 and 6. Income, about $3,000. Health, at the moment, good all round. Home, 10 rooms and two porches. One car, four radios, one video. No domestic help.

"My story is one of responsibility, responsibility, and more responsibility. I've always loved my life, but it never has been easy. At 14, with a delicate mother, three brothers, and not enough money, I was cooking, making beds, marketing, trimming Christmas trees, stretching money, sewing, mending, planning. And I'm doing just that now, 24 years later.

Prolific Family

"Two younger brothers were still at home when I married, and Mother still trail, so my dinner on my wedding night was cooked for five persons, by me. A year later John was born, and my sister joined us to have her baby at home, where Liz could take care of her. When my child was three months old and hers three weeks, our home burned down. We moved into the barn, Mother going to an aunt's house for awhile. Both brothers married girls who had no home connections nearby, and my sister, Rose and I gave them their weddings. We are a prolific lot; there are now 12 children in the three families.

"We bought two houses, next door to each other, and the deadly serious years began. Mother came home accompanied by a crippled brother; he was with us 10 years. Rose's husband died. We adopted a half-grown girl who helped with the children until she married.

"Oh, there was plenty of fun. Win and I have had a trip or two; the families have some cabins up in the mountains where we all go for summers. We're great picnicers, we love games, we all pitch in and help when a bride is to be fitted out or a baby is coming.

"But what about the measles, the money scares, the poor marks in grammar school, the shabbiness of chairs and curtains, the winters when everyone has colds, the lost car keys, the rising prices of everything, the adolescent problems and expenses and expectations ahead, the endless line of muddy shoes, lost rubbers, noise all over the house, fearful little girls, rebellious little boys, plans that don't mature, and what of all the trips and fun coats and beautiful rooms and ease and dignity of living that I know I'll never have? I'm 38.

Tired and Doubtful

"This morning I'm somehow tired and doubtful. Everything I've ever done seems half-finished and not worthwhile. I think of the agonies of fear I've gone through over the children's accidents, or this one's possible polio or that one's threatened eye trouble, and the trays carried upstairs and the toys mended—and oh, well!" Eliza finishes her letter, "that's enough of this, and tear up my letter and don't answer my commonplace, everyday problems!"

But I do answer, Eliza, and I repeat that I think your letter, and you, remarkable. And I hope, for the sake of this mighty nation, that what you are doing is really everyday and commonplace.

Yours is a magnificent story of service, sacrifice, and—I know, joy. I know there are hours of deep satisfaction and pride along the road of such a life as yours, pride and satisfaction such as no trips and furs and ease and dignity ever could give you. Yours is life as I truly believe God meant women to live it, undoing the wrongs and injustices to which we all are heir, binding up wounds, putting happiness and health into children's lives, holding not one but several families together.

You see only the roughness and the loose ends and the failures and the fatigues now. But when you are old, you'll see differently.

Why They Quit

A recent study to find out why good employees left their jobs disclosed the following reasons: Lack of prestige; insecurity; wasted talent; indefinite promotions; poor pay; poor leadership; poor working conditions; unpleasant associates.

Not The King

State Patrol Moves Against Illegal Loads

Sacramento, July 5, (CNS) — Moving strongly on commercial vehicles for the first five months of 1951, the California Highway Patrol made 27,146 arrests and issued 15,032 commercial warning citations during the period, Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson announced today.

These, he said, are the most recent totals available, and compare with 20,969 arrests and 14,502 warnings issued during the same period in 1950.

During the five-month period of this year, the patrol removed 17,784,782 pounds of cargo in excess of legal weight limits, compared to 16,502,846 pounds for the same period last year.

Principal violations, Peterson said, for which arrests were made, were 8,472 citations for overweight trucks; 4,614 for violations of rules of the road; 4,594 for speeding; 2,657 for faulty lights; 901 for faulty brakes and 426 for lack of mufflers.

The patrol, Peterson said, so far this year has checked 275,803 vehicles, compared to 238,533 last year, a procedure which has resulted in $50,252.40 in delinquent registration fees for the state, compared to $48,243.36 last year.

More Work Ahead For Body Men

Last Thursday afternoon Agnes Noli, 146 Parkview, allegedly backed her car into a machine parked at 7 Parkview, and owned by Mrs. Elaine Hertel, 182 Lyell Street, Los Altos. Police report the damage was slight.

State's Tomato Crop Biggest Yet

Sacramento, July 5, (CNS) — Tomato growers, who have much at stake this year, are hoping for a late fall and no rain, to permit harvesting the greatest crop in the history of the State, the Department of Agriculture said today.

Growers are well on their way to gathering a record yield, and were last year when early rains and frost put an end to the harvest. However, farmers are banking on the weather records in Sacramento for the past 75 years which indicate conditions will be favorable next fall.

Records show that since 1877 rain in measurable quantities has fallen in September on only 12 days. A trace has been recorded oftener, but was not injurious to late crops.

Records show rain seldom falls early, and an abnormal year is usually followed by one more normal.

A total of 150,000 acres has been planted to tomatoes this year and production is expected to reach 2,000,000 or more tons. The Department has increased its tomato inspection personnel to assist an even flow to processing plants.

Tomatoes are inspected at canneries and graded accordingly. This assures a high quality in the canned tomato and juice which are in great demand for the armed forces and civilian consumption as well.

$1.49 Smokes Snuffed Out

A preliminary injunction forbidding Lucca Market and Hilltop Market, both of Daly City, to sell cigarettes at $1.49 a carton was issued by the San Mateo Superior Court Tuesday.

Judge Murray Draper issued the injunction after he noted the two markets were in violation of the state Unfair Practices Act. This act forbids merchants to run "loss leader items," i.e. merchandise below cost.

Neither of the merchants have indicated they intend to fight the injunction. Consequently until the state law is revised, or the wholesale price of cigarettes drops, smokes will not be sold at $1.49 a carton in Daly City.

Westlake Secretary Leaves For Lock Co.

Petite and beautiful Mrs. Marvin Hawkes, 19 Lake Vista, this Monday left the offices of the Henry Doelger Co. firm for the Schlage Lock Company in Bayshore.

Mrs. Hawkes has been employed at Westlake for the past three months as secretary to Mr. Poncetta, vice-president. She also served as part time PBX board operator.

In her new job, Mrs. Hawkes will be employed in the engineering division of the Lock company.

Daly City Lions Club Installs New Officers

Ira C. Neville last Thursday took over the gavel which is held by the president of the Daly City Lions Club.

The well known Daly City man was among a score of officers installed by the Lions at a special installation banquet in San Mateo. The dinner was given at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

Neville will succeed Gil O'Shaughnessy, former president of the Lions. The new officers will "reign" during 1951-52.

Guest speaker of the evening was Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore. He gave a timely talk on narcotics and the roll they play in crime. He noted that San Mateo county was fortunate in having relatively little difficulty in keeping narcotics in check.

Installation officer for the evening was Loren Critzer, international counselor for the Lions International and principal of Sequia High School.

New officers include: Neville, president; R. L. Crane, secretary; John Ferrari, treasurer; Hal Willis, Walter Rector and Joseph Belli, Jr., 1st through 3rd vice-presidents respectively; Tom Laramie, tail twister; Rudy Wolmuth, lion tamer; Grant Williams, Roger Jackson, John Grandy and Lloyd Selmi, directors.

Two Cars Sideswipe On Hillside Drive

Involved in a minor accident on Hillside Drive at 5 p.m. Tuesday were Olga Heggeland, 551 Vista Grande; and Isadore Waglinsky, 139 Knowles.

Police report the two cars, both going east on Hillside, side swiped one another.

Waglinsky's car suffered minor damage, police report.

Missing: A Series Of Potted Plants

What does a thief do with six Franciscan ware pots (light apple green in color)?

That has baffled police and Robert McKay, 3 Belmont Drive. McKay reports the pots were stolen from in front of his home sometime Sunday night.

Inside the pots were six valuable plants. But where, oh where, do you "fence" potted plants?

Dirty Upholstery Call The RUG MAN

Charles E. Bried Co. PLaza 5-5840 178 School St

"Your gas and electric rates are lower than in 1940... no wonder you use so many appliances!"

Your P. G. and E. household rates are lower today than in 1940. The reason is simple: the average customer uses about twice the gas and electricity he did in 1940. That larger use helps cut delivery costs. Moreover, skilled employees and careful management work together to improve efficiency. The results are passed on to you in the form of low rates. We don't think these low rates are the only reason you buy so many appliances. But we do think they help you enjoy them more.

"We moved into our new home last year. I think we have about every modern appliance it takes to make living easier and more fun. My hobby is my workshop, power equipped. Yet electricity accounts for only 1% or 2% of our family expenses!"

All Interested Players Invited

Thursday, July 12, 1951, at 7:30 p. m. there is to be a meeting of all persons interested in participating in the Daily City Recreation Department's "Twilight Softball League for Adults."

This meeting will be held in the City Hall in the Council Chambers on the second floor.

The managers of last year's teams are specially urged to attend. It is hoped that the league can be started as soon as possible. Teams playing in other leagues may also play in this league, providing the whole team participates. Teams now playing in the South San Francisco League are eligible to play in this league, too.

Remember! This meeting is to be held this coming Thursday night, so please attend. Thank you.

CERECHINO LOSES TOUGH BALL GAME

By Cy Donaldson

A very creditable pitching job was turned in by Ed Cerechino last Sunday at Seals Stadium against the San Diego Padres.

Although Ed lost his first game 6-4, he looked good throughout the whole contest, and he could have won his initial game if the breaks had been with him instead of against him.

Three runs crossed the plate in the first inning for the Padres, but alert ball-handling by the seal outfielders could have saved one of these runs from scoring. While no errors were made by the Seals, the fielding lacked its usual lustre.

For five and two-thirds innings Ed allowed nary a run to cross the plate. He was working with a one run advantage by virtue of his own long fly ball which drove in a Seal from third base with the breaking run.

Only one out away from his first P. C. C. victory, Ed delivered a fast ball inside and waist high to Clarence Maddern which Maddern sent soaring into the left field bleachers.

With the score tied at 4-4 going into the bottom of the seventh inning night cap, the Seals had victory in their grasp, but failed to capitalize on a scoring opportunity.

The first two Seals at bat got on base via a single and a base on balls. Buster Adams was inserted to hit for Bob Thurman and I, for one, expected to see a sacrifice bunt to send the two Seals to second and third base where a long fly ball would have brought a man in to score the winning run.

Adams was instructed to hit away as were the next two batters and the result was one hit, no runs and a Padre win as San Diego made two runs in their half of the eighth inning.

Concluding this post-mortem, Cerechino pitched with the confidence of a veteran hurler; he remained visibly unperturbed thru his initial game.

Cerechino took a lot of time between pitches, unlike 21-year-old Lloyd Dickey who pitched the first game and worked extremely fast in comparison to Ed.

The crowd of over 12,000 showed their appreciation for the 17-year-old hurler as he came to bat. They applauded and shouted as Ed took a lusty cut at the ball and pounded it out into right field in the sixth inning to drive in the Seal's fourth run.

At the end of the game young hero worshipers besieged Ed for his autograph and Cerechino patiently obliged them.

Win, lose, or draw, many of the assembled fans knew they had seen a fine performance by Ed Cerechino, Daly City's latest contribution to professional baseball.

Vince & Fred's Lose 8-6

Vince and Fred's liquors lost to the Regal Pale baseball squad by a score of 8-6 last Sunday at Marchbanks Park.

Next Sunday at 12 p. m. they will meet the San Francisco A. C. at Funston Park.

SPORTSMAN'S CALENDAR

The Division of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing.

TROUT

Ends October 31. Bag and possession limits: 15 trout, salmon, or whitefish, or combination. Angling hours: one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. Local exceptions.

BLACK BASS, Sunfish, Crappie, Sacramento Perch
Bag limits: 5 black bass, 25 sunfish, crappie, perch. Local exceptions. No size limits.

STRIPED BASS

No closed season. Bag limit: 5 fish or 25 pounds and one fish, or 2 fish regardless of weight. Minimum size limit: 12 inches.

Antlerless Deer Season Set For Santa Barbara

Landowners of three large ranches in Santa Barbara County and local sportsmen alike have reported satisfaction with a special hunting season for antlerless deer set by the California Fish and Game Commission between August 11 and September 16.

For the ranchers, it means relief from costly crop depredations by the hungry deer which raid orchards and field crops from nearby hills.

For local sportsmen, the permit hunting season offers a chance to harvest the 600 surplus animals which might otherwise be wasted by death from starvation or natural causes. The three ranches are normally closed to public hunting, and the Division of Fish and Game reports that few deer have been taken under the State's damage permit system.

The season, which coincides with the regular buck hunting season in the area, was authorized as the outcome of a public hearing held in May at Lompoc.

CATFISH

No closed season. Bag limit: 15 pounds and one fish. Night fishing permitted in Siskiyou, Shasta, Lake, and Modoc counties. Minimum size limit in Clear Lake only: 9 inches.

OCEAN FISH

No closed season in Pacific Ocean for salmon, trout, rockfish, tuna, yellowtail, marlin, broadbill swordfish, black sea bass, barracuda, white sea bass, bonito, rock bass, sand bass, kelp bass, halibut, corbina, croaker, lingcod, and cabezone. Bag limits: 3 trout or salmon north of Monterey-San Luis Obispo County line; 2 south; 15 in aggregate, but not more than 10 of any one of other species listed above.

GRUNION

No bag or size limits. May be taken on beach or in surf by hand only. No appliances or holes which may entrap grunion may be used.

CLAMS

Closed in Humboldt and Monterey bay areas. No closed season elsewhere. Bag limits: 10 Pismo, 30 razor, 10 big neck, 10 Washington; no limit on jack knife clams.

COCKLES

Closed in all counties north of San Luis Obispo County. No closed season elsewhere. Bag limit: 50. Minimum size limit: 1 1/2 inches.

BEARS

No closed season or bag limit in Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino counties. May be taken by firearms or bow and arrow only. Hunting license required.

JACK RABBITS

Closed in southern California districts 4, 4 1/2, 4 3/4, 19, 20, and 22. No closed season elsewhere. No bag limit.

FROGS

Ends January 31. Bag limits: 24 per day, 48 per week. Size limit: none under four inches from tip of nose to crotch. No license required.

Craft is also used in inland river and Delta waters for tagging and surveys of salmon and other species.

Crew Jubilant
The "Striper" crew was jubilant over their netting of the huge 58 1/2-pound bass, the largest ever recorded in tagging operations. But their spirits were dampened somewhat two days later when Wendell Olson, a Turlock angler, hooked a 65-pound fish in the San Joaquin River.

Anglers put themselves in line for an official commendation card and cash prizes offered through cooperating sportsmen's groups by returning bass and salmon tags with notations as to size and location of catch.

THIEVES GET BIKE

Another bike was stolen from in front of the Jefferson High School gym Tuesday.

The bike belonged to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schaffino, 71 Miriam Street.

Hunting Privileges Rapidly Going From Individuals To Commercial Clubs

Little by little, the hunting privileges which formerly were enjoyed by the citizenry of the state are being transferred away from the normal man who may enjoy a day or two in the fields during the year, into the hands of the privileged few who can afford to spend real money to hunt.

It was not many years ago that the term "commercial licensed game bird club" was unheard of, yet today, there is on the statute book at the instance of Assemblyman Sam L. Collins, speaker of the house, a measure which tightens up pheasant hunting in California, practically the only field sport left to the individual.

Daily Fee
The Collins bill permits the commercial clubs, and many have been established in the pheasant hunting areas of northern and central California, to charge a "daily permit fee" of $18, and a bird fee not to exceed $6.

The bill also requires hunters to have one trained bird dog for each group of three or less hunters, while hunting on the property of the commercial club.

Chief complaint of the ordinary pheasant club is the fact that for miles around the clubs, normally, there is little hunting for the man who cannot afford $18 per day to shoot a couple of pheasants. Good cover, plenty of feed and water draws the birds from the ordinary hunting areas into the club properties, which the Collins bill allows to be as much as 2,500 acres.

Privileges
Then too, the hunting privileges on the commercial clubs far outweigh the privileges granted the ordinary hunter. The State Fish and Game Commission fixes about a ten day hunting period for the thousands who pay $3 for a hunting license, yet under the Collins bill, shooting on the commercial club grounds is permitted for a period of 75 days. The season on the commercial club opens long before the regular hunting season for the public and closes long after. In other words, if a hunter can afford to pay $18 per day, he can spend 75 days hunting while his less opulent fellow citizen must be content with ten days of the sport.

Bag Limit
Then too, the bag limit of the commercial club is three times greater than the private citizen is privileged to take. While the ordinary citizen is held to two birds per day, the commercial club hunter is allowed six in the discretion of the Fish and Game Commission, which may fix the bag limit not to exceed six birds.

While the privileges of the commercial clubs become greater, more and more land is being closed to the ordinary pheasant hunter. A lot of the closing is the hunter's own fault, due to his carelessness and the damages done by thoughtless persons, but the fact remains that as the years pass by, the hunting areas are being narrowed down to the point where a decent hunt and a daily bag are becoming almost non-existent.

Police Check Arsonist's Work

Whether it was a try at arson, or a drunk with a match, there is no denying that alert police officers Wednesday morning checked what might have been a bad fire.

Officer August Benassini and Sgt. Rico Benediti were on patrol when they noticed a man running from in front of the second hand store at 6622 Mission which is operated by Walter Dean Sr.

Investigating, they discovered the unidentified arsonist had shoved single sheets of newspaper under the store door. He had evidently just lighted them, when police arrived.

The two officers put out the fire, but members of the fire department arrived to be sure the flames had not spread to other parts of the building.

Damage was minor, Sgt. Benediti said.

Teen Time

By Bess Ritter

Sea shells which you collected last summer are lovely for decorating picture frames. Daub a little glue on each shell, and place it on the wood, until the entire surface is covered. Start with tiny shells near the picture, and work outward. The largest shells should be at the edge.

Try a "backwards party" the next time you entertain. Write the invitations spelled backwards or so your guests must read them by holding them up to a mirror. Guests come to the party with their clothes on backwards. Serve dessert first, then the main dish, and finally, the entree. Games can be played backwards, also. Just for fun, try blindman's buff, by covering the eyes of all the players, and placing a bell on the person who is "It." Everybody tries to find the one who is "It" for a change. Don't forget hide and seek, with the hiders trying to catch the seeker. Remember, of course, to say "goodbye" to all the guests when they come in, and "Hello, I'm glad to see you," when they're ready to leave.

To avoid arguments as to who is to wash the dishes after supper, introduce the family to this democratic method: Place a piece of colored Scotch tape underneath one of the dinner plates. Shuffle them carefully, while everybody watches. Now set the table.

Unusual Pets

EVERYWHERE one goes there are people with pets. The kind of pet, naturally differs with the place. There are very few animals which someone has not tried to tame, at one time or another, either for their usefulness, companionship, or both.

If you were to move to Australia, you would no doubt in time own a pet kangaroo, or a kaola bear. In China, instead of a canary, you would have a singing lark. Starlings, taught to say a word or two, replace these birds in East India. In Japan, you might buy a pair of mice trained to waltz. Monkeys are popular pets all over the globe, in spite of their mischief. Practically every native nut in South America has its pet monkey. New Guinea natives catch young cassowaries, and tame them for pets. Crickets are caged in Spain, Mexico, Japan and China. Mexicans keep pet fleas, too.

Instead of cats, small African genets are kept in parts of Europe for the same reason that cats were first tamed—as rat catchers.

King James I of England was fond of all animals. His private zoo included sables, Irish wolf-dogs, an elephant and five camels.

The ancient Romans were also pet-minded. Those who could afford such luxury kept apes, elephants, and sea lions, all trained to entertain their owners with amusing tricks.

Puzzlin' Pencils

A LEAD pencil is a strange thing if you think about it. There isn't any lead in a "lead" pencil. A piece of chalk is a pencil. So is a paintbrush! The ancient Egyptians had pencils made of real lead—but the pencils you use today are made of graphite. Graphite is a mineral also known as black lead—only there isn't any lead in it at all. It's really a kind of carbon. The first "pencils" were not even made for writing. They were part of an artist's equipment—really very fine brushes. Certain paint brushes are today called pencils. Puzzlin', isn't it?

CITY PLAYGROUND EVENTS

LEADERS REPORT ON WEEK'S WORK

COMING EVENTS

by Elic Johnson
The fourth week will be here next week and the Recreation Department has another big time planned for all of you youngsters.

Two events will take place that should please most of you boys and girls. First, after the usual movies on Monday, baseball on Tuesday and Thursday, etc., throughout our schedule, Wednesday you people will get a chance to test out your "Sea-legs" when the Recreation Department has its annual San Francisco Bay Excursion. This trip has always been fun for everyone and it should be as good as ever this year.

See your nearest playground director for full particulars. For only 35 cents, that's right, you can take a $1.00 tour of the Bay and see these famous sights: 1. Fishermen's Wharf, 2. Aquatic Park, 3. Army Transport Docks, 4. Marina, 5. Presidio and Fort Point, 6. Golden Gate Bridge, 7. Angel Island, 8. Alcatraz Island, 9. Treasure and Yerba Buena Islands, 10. San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, 11. Ferry Building, and numerous other interesting sights. REMEMBER! This trip is Wednesday July 11, 1951, and all those going must leave Daly City at 9:30 a.m.

Picnic Slashed

Friday, July 13, 1951, Marchbanks Park will be the site of the first annual Picnic and Skating Party on the upper-level. With the new hard surface recently completed, the upper-level makes an ideal skating rink. The Picnic will be held in conjunction with the skating to make a party out of the two events. The middle-level with its fireplace makes a nice place for roasting wieners and marshmallows and with the windbreak and table the spot is perfect for the picnic.

The junior baseball league is still open for any boys wishing to enter. If you are interested see either Mr. Reese at the High School or Bucky Linhares at Marchbanks Park. The baseball clinic has proven to be very successful for the boys 10 years and under, however there is room for more teams in the junior baseball which is held each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

LINCOLN PLAYGROUND

by Don Woll
A new interest is gaining more popularity on Monday afternoons. This is the movies held at Bellevue Hall at 2:30 p.m. Monday, July 2, there was the largest crowd of this current program. The meeting room was packed with over 250 youngsters who came to see Western Union and the Red Barry Serial. Marilyn Whinner and her friends attended from Lincoln and enjoyed themselves very much.

Since this week was the week of the Fourth of July, fireworks were on every youngsters mind and a few firecrackers were heard during the week. A large group from this playground attended the annual Fireworks Display held at Marchbanks Park.

Although the Junior Olympics was very successful at Jefferson High School, everyone is looking forward to the next outing which is a San Francisco Bay Excursion. A trip around Fishermen's Wharf will follow the bay trip; so be at the playground around 9:30 to assure plenty of time to get to the pier before 11 a.m. Ever since the Beach Party the Band's, Philip Liberte, Ronald Bell and many others are all anxious for the next outing and a nice educational outing like the aforementioned promises to be a very enjoyable and well attended boat trip.

JEFFERSON HIGH

by L. R. Reese
The first ping-pong tournament of the season produced some expert play with Charles Olson and Donna Shulda emerging as boys and girls weekly champions. Others not far behind were Harold Diamond, Henry Shields, Joan Johnson and Pamela Hix. Every Wednesday is tournament day in the Little Theater, or as it is called in the summer, The Game Room.

Everyone is welcome to participate in ping pong, chess, checkers, etc. A baseball game between Jeff and Brisbane is planned for this week. Among the teenagers folk dancing has proved most popular with badminton to start this week. Of course the pool tables always have a waiting list and the Monday movies, fill the Game Room for both performances.

MARCHBANKS PARK

by Bucky Linhares
Though the weather was not very cooperative, being overcast and windy, fifty hardy souls left Marchbank Park and hiked to the shores of Thornton Beach. Being joined there by the groups from Lincoln Playground and the High School, the Marchbank kids participated in what turned out to be one of the best Thornton Beach Parties of all. Among those contributing to the success of the outing were Victor Gotelli, David Laing, Dennis Hansen, Ed Lyons, Douglas Jones, Joe Schieri, David Huckle, Frank Bria Junior and many others.

On Wednesday, July 4, Marchbank was host to the annual Daly City Fireworks Display. This extremely colorful and exciting event was attended by a huge audience that acclaimed it as even better than the wonderful showing of last year.

On Friday, July 6, the High School was the host of the Junior Olympics. Here the children from Marchbank as well as Lincoln playground and the high school made their bid for athletic honors. The Olympics turned out to be its usual success with winner and loser, spectator and judge having the best of a wonderful time.

Next week, Wednesday, July 11, all those with saltwater in their veins will journey down to the water front and board a worthy ship that will take them on a tour of the great San Francisco Bay. Sailors must be from eight years of age and over. Everyone must bring his own sea-legs.

A picnic and skating party that promises a great time will be held at Marchbank on Friday, July 13, at 12 noon.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

by Regina Warchot
This week was a very exciting week for all the children who came to Arts and Crafts. Those long awaited statues, which everyone loves, were finally made. Most of the people painted two statues, they did a splendid job, too. For the day the directors, Jim Kraywinkel and Regina Warchot, saw nothing but statues painted in a creative manner. Green pigs, blue Santas, red seals, were only a few

Daly City Girls Invited To Register For Day Camp During Summer Months

There is still time to sign up for the Day Camp girls!

Registration forms are available at the Daly City city hall in the recreation office. Here are a few questions we will try to answer for you, for you will surely want to know the Who, Where What, and When of the camp.

First, who can go day camping? Any girl between the ages of 7 and 15 can go. Second, where do we go? To Camp Mattrup. This camp is located in the Colma Hills. A lovely woodland site where girls have fun cooking out of doors, hiking, studying nature lore, and learning to live and play together in the out-of-doors.

What is the cost? The fee is $2.75 for 8 days of camping. When do we go? July 16, 17, 18, 19, 23, 24, 25 and 26.

How do we register? Detach the bottom form. Fill in the information and inclose the registration fee and form in an envelope. Address this envelope to the recreation department, city hall, Daly City, California. Registrations must be received by July 11, 1951.

Child Care Funds Now Available

An appropriation of $5,456,857 for continuation of child care centers throughout California was available today, as the result of Governor Warren's signature on AB 3410, by Assemblyman Ernest Geddes.

The Governor signed the measure Saturday, to eliminate the necessity of closing the centers at the end of the fiscal year. The centers, he said, will continue operation without interruption.

of the color experiments the children used. But there was more to do this week than statues. Pat Rickey was very happy that the children up at Crocker made pansy baskets on her birthday because she was going to take hers home to use at her birthday party. Judy McCullough was very excited to learn that she could braid a leash for her dog and wood burning, well that's every boy's delight.

So don't forget to come next week to your playground for Art and Crafts and see the new things that your friends are making.

Driver Allegedly Turns From Broadside To "U"

A 19-year-old San Francisco driver today is charged with reckless driving in Daly City, but Police Officer Van Otten thinks this is the understatement of the week.

According to Van Otten William Saunder, 1319 Cayuga Avenue made a broadside stop at Flournoy and Mission at 2:10 a.m. Sunday. He then allegedly whipped his car around and headed down Mission to the San Jose intersection. There he made a quick "U" turn, narrowly missed several parked cars, and returned to Mission and Flournoy, officer Van Otten said.

At this juncture in his travels, Van Otten cut short the trip. Saunder will appear in police court Friday to answer the charge.

Local Man Faces Drunk Charge

Charged with disturbing the peace and drunkenness today is E. B. King, 498 Miriam Street.

On a complaint signed by his wife, King was picked up by officers at 3:40 a.m. Saturday.

He was released on $50 bail, and will appear in police court this Friday to answer the charges against him.

BROADMOOR CUBS HONORED

Meeting for the last time until fall, cubs of Broadmoor Pack No. 84 received a variety of awards last Thursday evening.

High on the honors list were Lee Chessman and Buddy Andersen. Both boys received their Webelos badges, and are now prepared to enter scouting.

Trophies for the best performance in the recent Cub Olympics were also awarded. Winners and runner-ups were:

Dixie Howell and Webby Parker, wolf; Ricky Gomez and Bob Noll, bear; Scott Parker and Bill Brown, lion.

Dennis Baird and Dave Drotar received their wolf badges, while at the same meeting John Avanzino received two silver arrows. Meanwhile, as their first activity of the summer the cubs split up Monday for two trips. Members of Dens 1, 2 and 3 visited a Streamliner in the railroad yards at Oakland. Dens 4 thru 7 stayed closer to home and visited the Mission Bay round house.

These outings are planned every other Monday throughout the summer for the members of the pack.

VILLAGE NOTES

BROADMOOR, GARDEN VILLAGE, COLMA

by Mrs. Mark Swoverland
PLaza 5-4158

Hi there! I hope you all had a nice 4th of July celebration. There are many vacations and trips to report so let's begin.

Midway

Mrs. Amy Hanson of Council Bluffs, Iowa, has been visiting her niece Mrs. Alice Travinsky. Mrs. Hanson was accompanied by her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Dingwell have sold their home here and they have returned to Belleflower. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Travinsky and their children are staying with the John Travinskys until their new home is complete.

Nimitz

I hear tell Louis Rassmusan was called back to army duty and has left for Massachusetts.

Happy birthday to little Billy Eagleton who celebrated his fourth birthday last Saturday with a party. Eighteen children were seated at the balloon-fest table and they ate "gobs" of ice cream and cake.

87th Street

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hager and their children Stevie and Terry from Los Angeles are visiting the Don Hagers.

Here and There

Anyone having anything to donate for a rummage sale held by the Community Presbyterian church August 16-18 may call PL 5-1875. Ha! Here's a chance to clean out the closets.

Colma

Mr. and Mrs. John Denham and their daughters Erva and Mary Elizabeth, and Marlyn Tools spent the week at Clear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Tuvo and their son Angelo spent the evening with the Jerry Hopper family.

Mr. Buster Miller from San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lofton and their daughter Lynda from San Mateo spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hopper.

Washington

Mr. and Mrs. John Lepine and their children returned from a week's vacation on a ranch.

Foothill

Mr. and Mrs. Trev Jones were host and hostess as they entertained a group of neighbors with a Chinese dinner. Those attending were Jane and Andy Pansini, Fran and Frank Deth Lefsen and Maureen and Del Guymon.

Larchmont

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Miller and their five sons were recent guests of the Rev. and Mrs. John Glasse. Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Eugene, Oregon are formerly from Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Trout of San Bruno also were recent guests of the Rev. and Mrs. John Glasse.

Heather Road

Mr. Bill Nye spent the last two weeks on a business trip in Montana.

Here and There

The newly formed Presbyweds spent last Saturday evening at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Glasse.

Mrs. Carl Payne, program chairman from the presbytery, spoke last night at the Women's Association of the Community Presbyterian church. Mrs. Cushing and Mrs. Thompson were co-hostesses.

So long 'til next week.

"Bloomer Girl" Now Playing At S. F. Opera House

As cheerful and lusty and loud as ever, "Bloomer Girl" spread her gay hoop skirts and dashing pantaloons over the revolving stages of San Francisco Opera House for two weeks beginning Monday, July 2.

Heading the great company of 90 is Dick Haymes. The cast includes Frances McCann, Olive Reeves-Smith, Mabel Taliaferro, Dooley Wilson, Robert Warwick and Bambi Linn. A special feature of this musical will be the addition of the San Francisco Ballet company.

Like "Oklahoma" this musical play by E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen is at once operetta, comedy, drama, ballet and social commentary.

So This Is Ocean View Hospitality?

Young Billie Bricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bricker, 313 Peoria, doesn't think much of Ocean View hospitality today.

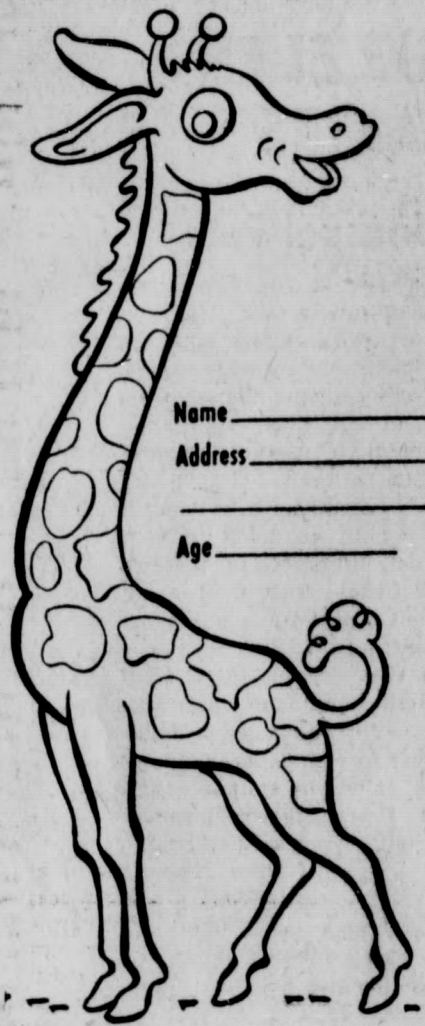

While delivering pamphlets for a local store there last Saturday afternoon he was rudely bitten by an Ocean View dog.

The bite took quite a bit from young Bricker's britches. However, except for a sudden allergy to chairs, Bricker is expected to recover today.

COLORING CONTEST

Win VALUABLE PRIZES

Get your crayons or paints out and color your way to fun and exciting prizes. Neatness counts. Follow these simple rules:

- This contest is open to all boys and girls 11 years of age or younger, except children of employees of the sponsors or of this newspaper.
- Color as many pictures as you wish, but only one prize will be given to each winner.
- Print your name and address clearly in space provided and take your colored picture to the sponsor shown on the ad. All entries must be submitted before (DATE).
- Decisions of judges are final. Finished pictures become the property of the sponsors who reserve the right to publish the winning names.

This Week's Prizes: (to be awarded July 19) include: 1st. Hopalong Cassidy Outfit from O'Brien's Boys' & Men's Wear Shop, 6210 Mission—or, if a girl wins, a suitable prize from a local merchant. 2nd Prize (to be awarded July 19): six free passes to the Daly City Theatre.
